4 TODD EVANS,
5 Plaintiff

Order

Re: ECF No. 194

6 v.

7 JAMES DZURENDA, et al.,
8 Defendants

9 On May 6, 2024, Plaintiff was appointed pro bono counsel, Erin M. Gettel, Esq., and
10 John S. Delikanakis, Esq. (ECF No. 187.)

11 On July 15, 2024, the parties filed a stipulation for the limited reopening of discovery and 12 to continue the trial date. (ECF No. 188.) The court held a hearing on July 26, 2024, and 13 approved the stipulation in part. At that time, Plaintiff's counsel represented that a medical 14 expert had been identified. The court reopened limited discovery through November 25, 2024.
15 (ECF No. 190.)

16 On September 10, 2024, Plaintiff filed an Ex Parte Motion for Reimbursement of Expert
17 Expenses. (ECF No. 194.)

18 The procedures for pro bono counsel to obtain reimbursement of expert expenses are set
19 forth in Second Amended General Order (SAGO) 2019-07.

20 A pro bono attorney may apply for reimbursement, or an advance, of reasonable expert
21 expenses not paid by the party from the District of Nevada's Attorney Admission Fund. A
22 request for reimbursement or an advance may be made to the court's Pro Bono Committee, 23 though its Liaison. The Pro Bono Committee may condition approval of the request subject to

1 availability of funds at the time of the request. A request made to the Pro Bono Committee may 2 be made ex parte.

3 Under SAGO 2019-07, advances and/or reimbursements are generally limited to $7,500.
4 If pro bono counsel has incurred expenses of an extraordinary nature (i.e., more than $7,500),
5 counsel may apply to the Attorney Admission Fund of the District of Nevada for additional 6 reimbursement. Such an application must: (1) demonstrate that the amount in excess of $7,500 is 7 essential to effective representation of the pro bono client; (2) contain the presiding judge's
8 determination that the extraordinary costs were reasonable and necessary; and (3) provide
9 documentation that the client is unable to reimburse pro bono counsel for the extraordinary
10 expenses for which reimbursement is sought.

11 The Attorney Admission Fund Committee will then make a recommendation as to 12 whether to grant pro bono counsel's application for reimbursement of extraordinary costs, which 13 will be placed on the agenda of the next quarterly judge's meeting.

14 Preliminarily, while SAGO 2019-07 provides that a request for reimbursement or an 15 advance of reasonable expert expenses may be sought ex parte from the Pro Bono Committee,
16 SAGO 2019-07 does not contain a provision that a request for determination from the presiding
17 judge that the extraordinary expenses sought are reasonable and necessary may be filed ex parte.
18 Plaintiff's motion was not accompanied by a motion for leave to file it under seal or an 19 explanation of why it needed to be filed ex parte. See LR IA 7-2(b); LR IA 10-5. Therefore, the 20 court will direct the Clerk to serve ECF No. 194 on Defendants via CM/ECF.

21 Next, the court interprets Plaintiff's motion as seeking a determination from the 22 undersigned, as presiding judge, that the extraordinary costs sought are reasonable and 23 necessary. Plaintiff's counsel has located an expert witness in neurosurgery—Dr. Ajir—who is

1 willing to conduct an independent review of Plaintiff's medical records, and, if necessary, draft
2 an expert report and testify at depositions and/or trial. Dr. Ajir charges a reduced rate of $780
3 (per hour), charging $625 per hour for travel time, if necessary, which counsel represents is 4 lower than other experts Plaintiff entertained.

5 According to pro bono counsel, Dr. Ajir's rates are likely to exceed $7,500, particularly if 6 he has to prepare a report. Plaintiff's counsel explains the expert is necessary and essential to 7 effective representation because without expert assistance Plaintiff would be unable to explain
8 how the delayed MRI and resulting delay in treatment was the actual and proximate cause of his 9 condition. To that end, Plaintiff's counsel requests an advance of $12,000 ($6,000 to retain Dr.
10 Ajir and $6,000 for the initial invoice(s)).

11 The court finds the extraordinary costs sought are reasonable and necessary in light of the 12 circumstances presented in this case. Plaintiff is an incarcerated person proceeding in forma
13 pauperis on an Eighth Amendment claim relayed to an alleged delay in getting a cervical spine
14 MRI that led to the diagnosis of Plaintiff's pituitary tumor. Expert assessment regarding whether
15 and how any delay caused Plaintiff's damages is reasonable and necessary to present Plaintiff's
16 case and for pro bono counsel's effective representation of Plaintiff.

17 This Order will be forwarded to the Attorney Admissions Fund Committee for a 18 recommendation on whether to grant the pro bono counsel's application for reimbursement of 19 extraordinary costs. The Order will also be forwarded to the Pro Bono Committee Liaison to 20 determine whether to approve the request for an advance of the funds if the Attorney Admissions
21 Fund Committee recommends that the application for extraordinary expenses be granted.

CONCLUSION

(1) The Clerk is directed to SERVE ECF No. 194 on Defendants via CM/ECF;

(2) Insofar as Plaintiff's motion requests a determination that the extraordinary costs were reasonable and necessary, the motion is GRANTED;

(3) The Clerk shall forward a copy of this Order to the Chair of the Attorney Admissions Fund Committee, Magistrate Judge Nancy Koppe, and to the Chairs of the District of Nevada's Pro Bono Program, District Judge Anne R. Traum and Magistrate Judge Brenda Weksler.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
